Welcome to 2020, each year offers us an opportunity to reflect from past experiences and looking forwards to new exciting opportunities. No matter what your goals are for the coming year, we intend to focus on the standard and quality of our publication.

We are now entering the 42nd year of publishing. The number of submission has been increasing every year. To uphold a reasonable and acceptable quality level, the reviewing process for some submissions were relatively long and we intend to improve on this. Although, many submissions were turned away last year, there is still a long list of articles in press. We are now trying to make some change by publishing these articles online before print. We will try our best to improve the situation this year.

On behalf of the editorial team, we would like to thank our valued editorial boards, reviewers and authors for their contributions to Songklanakarin Journal of Science and Technology.
